tioe, and the means provided for the en-forcement of the lien therefor created upon the land, the courts holds that they are required to be assessed in the name of and against the person who by himself or his tenant has the freebold in possession; that upon him and no one else are they made a personal liability, and that only his goods and chattels and the life estate of the life tenant are bound for the taxes.

The contention of the counsel for the city of Richmond that even if the lien of the Commonwealth be only co-exten s.ve with its taxes, nevertheless, the lien of the city for its taxes is in all cases on the fee, is not sustained and the court hold ng that the lien given upon real estate for taxes assessed there on was intended to be a lien on the estate of the person assessed therewith.
For taxes which accrued during the estate of the tenant for life and assessed against him, the lien is only upon the ife estate and does not extend to the reversion or remainder.

The lien for taxes and levies assessed on real estate, whether they are assess of for the Commonwealth or counties, or for the city of Richmond, is only up Decree reversed, Judge Cardwell dis-
